LA Dodgers dodge ghosts in Milwaukee hotel

The Pfister Hotel, an elegant landmark in downtown Milwaukee built in 1893, has long been rumored to be haunted. From flickering lights to phantom footsteps, players have whispered about eerie experiences for years.

Dodgers' Mookie Betts has heard enough. Once again, the eight-time All-Star refused to stay there, opting instead for the safety of an Airbnb — as he's done on every Milwaukee trip since 2022.

"I don't believe in ghosts," Betts said last season. "But I don't want to find out that I'm wrong."

Teoscar Hernández admitted that he and his family decided not to stay at the Pfister either after teammates shared their own ghostly encounters since arriving Sunday night.

"I've stayed there before and never seen anything," Hernández told reporters during his pre-game media session. "But my wife said she didn't want to stay there. Then I started hearing stories — lights going off, doors opening, footsteps. I was like, okay, that's enough."

It's a test of nerves — not just against Freddy Peralta and the Brewers' elite pitching staff, but against the kind of folklore that seeps into a team's psyche. Players from Bryce Harper to Adrian Beltre to Pablo Sandoval have all claimed strange encounters at the Pfister, and the stories never seem to die.

While playing for the Dodgers in 2001, Beltre said he heard knocking at his door while staying

A biographer once wrote of Christopher Columbus that "He discovered no island or sea as lonely as himself."

How different for those who trust God!

David wrote, "When You, God, went out before Your people, when You marched through the wilderness ... You provided for the poor!"

The writer of Hebrews echoed those words when he wrote, "I will never leave you nor ever forsake you..."

King Nebuchadnezzar refused to hear the testimony of three young men. He bound them and threw them into a fiery furnace. In amazement, when he looked into the furnace he did not see three men, but four: unharmed and unbound. He shouted, "Servants of the Most High God, come out! Come here!" God went before them, protected them and rescued them.

On one occasion the disciples of Jesus were frightened by the winds and the waves that were threatening them. They were in a little boat with little hope. Then Jesus appeared and said, "Take courage. Don't be afraid. It is I!" He went to them, calmed their fears and then said, "You of little faith. Why did you doubt?"

A Psalmist was traveling through a deep valley with dark shadows. He was filled with great fear as he faced the "unknown." Yet, he was able to say, "I will fear no evil, for You are with me. Your rod and Your staff will comfort me!" He trusted God because He never abandoned Him.

The Lord always goes before us to protect us. He will provide for everything we need now and through eternity.

One night before climbing into bed, Brad knelt with his mother to pray. "Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray Thee Lord, my soul to keep; if I should die before I wake..." There was a long pause and suddenly he stopped praying.

"Go on," said his mother to encourage him.

"I can't," he cried and ran from the room.

A few moments later he returned and finished the prayer, "I pray Thee Lord my soul to take."

"What happened?" his Mother asked.

"Well," he confessed, "just before we knelt to pray, I went into James' room and took all of his toy soldiers and hid them. Then I hid his tanks, cannons and trucks so he couldn't see them. And after I started to pray I had to stop and make everything right because I knew that God wouldn't hear me."

Many times we pray and get no answers. Often we think that God is not willing to hear us or unable to help us. But that is not true.

We cannot knowingly have sin in our hearts and lives and go to God and expect Him to answer our prayers. If we expect God to hear and answer our prayers we must make things right first.

Said the Psalmist, "if I had cherished sin in my heart, the Lord would not have listened." It is only when we willingly confess and forsake our sins that we can expect God to answer our prayers. It may be time to stop in the middle of a prayer, right some wrongs and then pray.

The San Joaquin County Registrar of Voters Office (ROV) announced today that ballot processing for the June 2, 2026 Statewide Primary Election is nearly complete, with just 2,700 ballots remaining to be reviewed.

In the six days since the Primary Election, ROV staff have already counted 135,763 ballots—an accelerated pace that reflects the office’s strong preparation and commitment to timely, accurate results. Voter participation currently stands at approximately 33.1%.

The remaining ballots consist of damaged ballots requiring careful duplication, ballots needing further review and Conditional Voter Registration (CVR)/Provisional ballots that must undergo additional verification before being counted.

ROV Olivia Hale praised both the community and the team behind the effort:

“Our staff has demonstrated extraordinary dedication and professionalism throughout this process. Working long hours with precision and care, they have ensured that every ballot counted so far reflects the will of our voters. I’m incredibly proud of their commitment to both speed and accuracy, and deeply grateful to the voters of San Joaquin County for making their voices heard in this election.”

Sacramento, Calif. – California Secretary of State Shirley N. Weber, Ph.D., reminds California that counties are required to count and report most ballots by, Monday, June 15. The processing deadline became effective this year under Assembly Bill 5 (Chapter 250, Statutes of 2025), which seeks to speed up vote counting for all statewide elections in some capacity by requiring county elections officials to release the vote counts for ballots by the 13th day after the election with the exception of certain specified types of ballots that require additional processing.

“In a state as unique as California with the largest population in the nation, this has been a tremendous undertaking, and I share my immense gratitude for the many elections officials, and volunteers who have dedicated their time, energy, and heart to administering this election,” said Secretary Weber. “Their work is not easy, but they do it out of a deep commitment to help voters exercise one of the most important civic duties in our democracy, and it should never be taken for granted.”

NEW YORK — Aaron Boone ran inside the New York Yankees’ clubhouse during arecent game to see if there were more specifics on Aaron Judge’s injury, but there was nothing.

Boone thought he’d have an answer after the Yankees’ 2-1 win over the Cleveland Guardians, but still nothing. The unknown had caused the fanbase to panic and think the worst.

Finally, late Thursday night, the Yankees announced Judge had been diagnosed with a stress fracture of the first rib on his right side. He will be re-examined in four to six weeks before the club determines the next steps. He is expected to return before the season ends.

Bleu returns home!

Bleu, the Blue Indian ringneck parrot, has returned to his Lodi home.

“He is home now currently taking a nap after eating and drinking tons of water! Thank you to everyone who helped me look for him and prayed for him.” said Adalyn Abercrombie. “He flew all the way to Stockton Hyundai!! I’m so glad nothing happened to him, practicing his flying skills. That boy is fast!”

He arrived and was found at the Stockton dealship.

Bleu flew out of his cage and headed east towards Orange street when his family lost sight of their pet.

“He is super sweet and might come to people if he gets hungry or thirsty. He also talks. He loves to say peek a boo. He tends to squawk as he flies and says “pew pew pew.” He’s growing new feathers right now so he looks a little scruffy and his tail isn’t as long as it usually is.”

Boat show on the Delta

The 8th Annual Runabouts on the River, presented by The Antique and Classic Boat Society NorCal/Lake Tahoe chapter, takes place from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on June 27 at the Stockton Sailing Club in Stockton. This event features the largest collection of classic boats on the West Coast. A highlight are the complimentary boat rides!

Runabouts on the River is a popular antique boat and car show, celebrating classic boating and automotive culture. Proceeds from the event support Stockton Sailing Club Youth Sailing Program, the Sea Scouts, and help the Stockton Maritime Museum’s efforts to showcase the USS Lucid on downtown Stockton’s waterfront. Funds from the event also allow the ACBS to continue offering programming for the community.

Runabouts on the River offers free admission and free boat rides on the San Joaquin River so that enthusiasts, collectors, and the community can enjoy a beautiful day celebrating classic boats and cars. One new feature this year, will be rides on an historic former U.S. Coast Guard Rescue Boat piloted by Captain John Garza of Pacific Coast Water Rescue.

This annual event brings together classic and antique boats, classic cars, hot rods, and modern performance cars. There are vendors selling food, drinks and other wares. Bring the kids and enjoy the free activities just for them. The Sailing Science Center will provide a hands-on, interactive learning experience that children and adults will enjoy. Listen to live music and enjoy a beer or cocktail. A highlight is always the live demonstrations from the San Joaquin County Sheriff’s firefighting boat as it shows off firefighting skills as well as water rescue demonstrations by Pacific Water Rescue.

Delta College in good shape

Delta College has earned another strong vote of confidence from the financial community, positioning the College to make the most of taxpayer dollars as the voter-approved Measure K bond program moves into the construction phase.

Moody's Ratings recently assigned Delta College an Aa2 credit rating with a “Positive” outlook, a designation that can help the College borrow at lower interest rates and stretch Measure K bond dollars further.

The rating comes just months after Fitch Ratings reaffirmed Delta College's AA- (See next page) credit rating with that agency, providing additional independent validation of Delta's fiscal strength.

The most recent Moody's Aa2 rating is among the highest ratings awarded to public institutions and reflects the agency's assessment of Delta's strong financial position, healthy reserves, growing enrollment, and sound management practices.

The new rating applies to approximately $130 million in upcoming Measure K bond issuances, as well as the refinancing of $38 million in existing debt from the previous Measure L bond. The refinancing alone is expected to save taxpayers approximately $3.6 million.

"This rating once again affirms the strong financial foundation of Delta College and the responsible stewardship of taxpayer resources," said Superintendent/President Dr. Lisa Aguilera Lawrenson. "Receiving recognition from two independent rating agencies this year demonstrates that the College is well-positioned to deliver on the promises we made to voters through Measure K while maintaining long-term fiscal stability."

"We are committed to ensuring every Measure K dollar is invested wisely and transparently," said Board of Trustees President Dr. Charles Jennings. "Strong credit ratings help us maximize the value of taxpayer investments and reinforce the community's trust in the College's financial management."

The Moody's rating comes as Delta College continues planning and implementation efforts for Measure K, a $598 million facilities bond approved by voters in November 2024. Priority projects include a permanent building at the South Campus at Mountain House, campus information technology improvements, energy-efficiency projects.

Navigating difficult circumstances

Dr. Glenn Mollette
Herald correspondent

Every human being faces everyday challengers. We all have them. No way is immune from problems, sickness and death. Hurdles to jump, mountains to climb and oceans to swim is a part of life. There is always a fire to put out or something to fix. Life is filled with repairs that await our attention.

Maintenance is a daily grind. Property maintenance, car and our physical bodies. You can't ignore either of the three very long without consequences. It's a big job staying on top of all that we need to do.

Sometimes the load becomes heavy. So much to do. This is why some people eventually get tired of too much to do and try to downsize. Sometimes you can and sometimes you can't. If you can then it's fine if you want to. Life has a lot to do with what we want to do. If you enjoy having a lot to do then changing your lifestyle may not be for you. If you would enjoy having less to be concerned about then it sounds like a good move to make.

If we have good health we can do more. If our health is declining then our major priority better be our health. Once our health is gone then we won't be doing anything.

Having blood work done by your local doctor is very important. You should do it every year. If there are some concerns you may want to do it every six months or more. The numbers will tell you if your cholesterol or sugar is too high or if there are other concerns. If you receive a bad report then every day you have to manage what food you are not going to eat and what you will try to eat. This becomes a job because it's not easy to cut out ice cream, cheeseburgers and pizza. Usually, these three are some of the first food groups to become outlawed or at least cut way back in our routine eating.

There are more hurdles in life than our diets. Americans face financial challenges from paying the rent to buying groceries. Credit card rates, interest rates on homes and car make for almost unbearable challenges for millions of Americans.

There is never a simple answer to all the stuff that we face in every day in life. The will of the human spirit is the most critical factor in dealing with life hurdles. When the spirit is down it is easy to be overwhelms. If our spirit is strong we navigate

God will provide a way. He will see you through if you will look to him for guidance. Resist the devil and he will flee from you, the Bible says. He may not go too far away but remember greater is he who is within you than he that is in the world. The strength of God is greater. You may have to make some critical life changes. Change and giving up or starting a new direction is never easy but it may be the way that God is leading you through your difficult circumstances.

at the Pfister, even with the TV and air conditioner turned off.

"I went to take a shower, and I remember putting my iPod next to a speaker," former Giants' infielder Pablo Sandoval recalled about his experience at the hotel. "When I came out, it was playing music, and I have no idea why." Sandoval and teammate Edgar Renteria refused to stay with the rest of the team at the Pfister in 2010.

Sandoval, Harper, and Beltre were not the only MLB players to experience paranormal activities either. Some of the most eerie stories come from former baseball players who stayed there over the years.

"It was more like a moving light that kind of passed through the room," said former Cardinals infielder Brendan Ryan to a local TV station. "The room got a little bit chillier."

"A couple of years ago, I was lying in bed after a night game, and I was out. My room was locked, but I heard these footsteps inside my room, stomping around. It woke me up," said former Ranger Michael Young. "I was on the computer one night, doing my typical shtick — surfing the web, sending an email, editing a photo — and then all of a sudden the lights started flickering," said former Angels' pitcher C.J. Wilson. "I'm thinking to myself, I'm going to be so pissed if my computer dies. Then the light just shuts off. And then the TV shuts off. And then the light turns back on, but the light at the front door turns off. I just yelled out, 'Really?'"So after that, I went back to whatever I was doing on the computer, but then 30 minutes later there's scratching in the walls. Now I'm thinking, OK, it's the Midwest, there could be a possum or something in the wall, right? That's possible, isn't it? All I knew was that there were definitely noises coming from the wall."

And finally, former Korean slugger Ji-man Choi was a first baseman also with the Angels when he said he was laying in bed and felt the "presence of a spirt lying in bed" next to him. Yeah, no thanks.

Cat upstages Romeo & Juliet in death scene

A ballet performance of Romeo and Juliet in Turkey went off-script when an orange cat wandered onto stage and interacted with the performance.

Video from the performance by the Imperial Russian Ballet Company in Izmir shows the cat wandering onto the stage during the climactic scene directly following Romeo's death.

The video, posted to Instagram by Tanya Borger, a member of the ballet company, shows the cat lie down next to the still actor before getting up to sniff at his head and play with his hair.

The feline performer seems to lose interest in Romeo when the dancer portraying Juliet pulls the other actor a few inches away on the ground.

The cat then makes its way to a nearby on-stage table to lie down and watch the rest of the scene.

The furry actor's performance, which elicited applause and laughter from the audience, was rewarded with a bow during the ballet's curtain call.

It was unclear how the cat got into the theater.

Scottish soccer fans drink Boston dry

Scottish soccer fans are being credited with a boom in Boston beer sales that caused some bars in the city to run dry.

Sam Adams' Boston Taproom said the influx of Scottish fans in town to attend FIFA World Cup games caused it to sell four times as much Samuel Adams Boston Lager from Thursday to Sunday as the bar normally would on a four-day weekend.

The tap room ended up running out of Boston Lager, leading the company to schedule an emergency delivery on Saturday morning.

Noelle Somers, chief operating officer at Hennessy's Bar in downtown Boston, said the facility sold out of beer on Sunday.

"We've been here for over 30 years, and we've never seen anything like it," Somers told The Boston Globe. "We tripled St. Patrick's Day."

Paul Morris of The White Bull Tavern said his business also ran out of beer, with a particular rush on Tennet's Lager, the most popular beer in Scotland.

"Pretty much everything, We ran out of everything," Morris told NBC Boston. "Tennent's being number one."

Old tortoises never die ... just keep on mating

The world's oldest living land animal, a tortoise named Jonathan, extended his record to 194 years and was officially named a Guinness World Records Icon.

The record-keeping organization said Jonathan, a Seychelles giant tortoise living on the island of St. Helena, was a full-grown adult of at least 50 years when he arrived at St. Helena from the Seychelles in 1882. His birth year is estimated to be 1832 at the latest, but researchers believe he might be even older.

"Jonathan the tortoise is a beloved resident of St. Helena," St. Helena Governor Nigel Phillips told Guinness World Records. "He has met royalty, starred in wedding photographs, and delighted tourists. But for Saints, he is a symbol of the enduring resilience of this island and its commitment to protecting the environment. It is entirely appropriate that he has as his home the paddock of the Governor's Residence. He is very much the brightest icon of this jewel in the South Atlantic."

Jonathan, aka Jono, has lost his vision and sense of smell but he continues to eat, sunbath and mate, his caretakers said.

Absent minded—but now millionaire

Michigan man who forgot to give a store clerk his usual instructions ended up winning a $1.05 million jackpot thanks to his accidental omission.

The 68-year-old Oakland County man told Michigan Lotteryofficials he regularly plays Fast Cash games, but he usually gives store clerks specific instructions.

"When I buy Fast Cash tickets, I hand the cashier money and tell them to give me any of the Fast Cash games, but lately I've been saying: 'Any except the Detroit Lions game,' because I hadn't been having luck with it," the man said

He forgot to add that last part when he stopped at the Speedway gas station on Pontiac Trail in South Lyon.

"I forgot to tell the cashier that this time, and the Detroit Lions game is what he printed for me. I never check my tickets right away, so I folded it up and put it in my pocket," the player said. The man discovered the next morning that he had won the $1.05 million progressive jackpot from the Detroit Lions Rush For Riches Fast Cash game. The man reflected on the luck of his mistake.

"All I've been thinking since winning is how glad I am that I forgot to tell the cashier not to give me the Detroit Lions game," he said.

The winner said he will use his prize money to take care of his family.

Mary the 'devil' is now safely at home

A Tasmanian devil that escaped from a Queensland zoo was located about a mile from the park more than two weeks later.

The marsupial, named Mary, sparked a large-scale search involving humans, dogs and drones after her June 2 escape from Paradise Country in the Oxenford suburb of Gold Coast. Mary was spotted a few days later on a suburban resident's home security camera near the Saltwater Creek Reserve.

A spokesperson for Village Roadshow, which operates Paradise Country, said Mary was found Tuesday night in a wilderness area about a mile from the park.

"Upon finding her, Mary was in an unstable condition, and the team assessed and determined she required veterinary care and rushed her to a specialist veterinary hospital where they were able to stabilize her condition," the spokesperson said in a statement provided to the Australian Broadcasting Corp.

Mary arrived at Paradise Country in May and was still in a quarantine enclosure when she escaped.

Lauren Mousley, the park's curator of native and exotic wildlife, said Mary's means of escape from her enclosure
